Lon Livingston, of Georgia, for 22 years a congressman, is not satisfied to go home after a recent defeat, but wants congress to provide him with a job by appointment for the balance of his life; and Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, though he is utterly incapacitated to represent his state and is standing on the verge of his grave, refuses to retire but says he will stick by the job until he is buried—he can't bear to lose that $7,500 salary. These two cases certainly make pitiful spectacles. Lon politically dead refuses to be buried; Tillman almost physically and mentally dead, is still eagerly reaching out for more pie and power.

If we are to believe many of the stories published in reputable magazines, there are many senators and congressmen in Washington who ought to be in the penitentiary. And the trouble seems to be that there are so many rascals there that they are in the majority and are able to prevent anything like a real investigation of the many fraud charged.

BROCKTON.

By B. F. WEAVER.

(All communications intended for this department should be addressed to B. F. Weaver, New Brockton, Ala.)

I remember once when I was a small boy some men were disputing about something and one said "Talk is cheap," "Yes," said the other "Or you wouldn't do so much of it."

This truth holds good in the new and remarkably place of boasting. Talk is cheap and much of it being done in behalf of the different towns and counties of the state, but the place with something to back the talk is the place to listen to. We believe Brockton has one of those places for there has never been such a demand for houses.

Mr. Curt Hutchison the popular rural carrier for Route 1, is building two new houses on his place. Squire Dawkins is putting up a residence. Mr. Ham will move to the house occupied by Dr. Milton and the Dr. expects to build.

Mr. Allen who has a carpenter still up north of town has completed the house west of the building known as the old hotel and will open a store soon.

Mr. Bryson has moved into his new house on the east side of town.

Mr. Dismukes has rented Miss Anna Johnson's house and will move soon.

Mr. J. J. Gunter has sold his mercantile business to W. D. Dawkins who will sell you anything you need in his line at reasonable prices and throw in a joke or two free.

More people would move here if they could find houses for rent. Now is a good time to invest in a house and lot here. Let us not forget too that more farm houses near here to induce more small farmers would be the best and most permanent investment that can be made.

enable him to listen to the whispering of the Goddess of love, for she only can awaken the soul to song. Seriously now it is the time of year when our hearts should be filled with love for it is the time we love to think when a child was born on earth who was to give his life for men. Teach your children to love, to look forward to a time of giving not receiving presents. If we should put half the effort on making everyone see his first, highest duty is to make one or more persons happy on Christmas day, that we put on paying back the presents our friends will give us, the full sum of happiness would be added to very much indeed.

The pupils are preparing some exercises in connection with a Christmas tree on Friday night December 28.

Mr. R. H. Dawkins and wife came up from Samson last week.

Mrs. John Holmes and Ollie Brunson came up from Flora last week the guest of E. G. Brunson's family.

Rev. S. A. Owens and family are spending the week with his father's people here. His family were here last week and Mr. Owens came down from the conference at Troy Monday night.

One of the preachers in the North Al. conference I believe, says the state will not educate the boys and girls right. Who is the state if the Methodists and Baptists of the state are not a part?

If the religious denominations want to have their training school for religious workers all right, but when they establish courses identical or nearly so with those of leading colleges of the state, they are simply opposing the progress of the state. The time has passed when private schools are needed in Alabama.

If the state institutions were as zealously supported as some denominational schools the cause of education would be advanced beyond what it is.

I know that morally and spiritually the graduates of the state colleges will rank as high as those of the same class of denominational school—I believe they will rank higher in patriotism.

tions of our friend over at Farmers Academy he is freed enough from his pedagogical duties to
